Education is a social process. Education is growth. Education is not a preparation for life; education is life itself.

UCI Summer Session offers more than 800 courses across 70 academic disciplines each summer, including a wide variety of online classes. Summer Session makes it possible for students to make progress towards their degree year round, often making a difference for those who want to graduate on time or even early. More than 12,000 students attend UC Irvine each summer. Summer Session also offers numerous special programs, including summer programs for incoming freshman and transfer students, a visiting student program for international students, and a leadership development program.

Questions? Let us know!

Freshman Edge: summer-freshman@uci.edu
Transfer Edge: summer-transfer@uci.edu

II. GETTING STARTED

A. ACTIVATE YOUR UCInetID

(BEFORE you attempt to purchase a parking permit online and prior to check in for the program)

Your UCInetID is the key to online services at the University of California, Irvine. Many online services including EEE (Electronic Education Environment), UCI G Suite, and Student Access require you to use your UCInetID and password in order to log in. Your UCInetID is for your individual use only. You should not share your password with anybody else. You will need your UCI ID number, social security, and birthdate to activate your UCInetID.

Finding Your UCI ID Number
- Your ID number is in your UCI admissions correspondence
- Your ID number may also be at the bottom of your paper Summer Session receipt ➢ International students who do not have a Social Security Number, or you have been assigned a special 999 number by the registrar's office, you can leave this field blank; otherwise you must provide this information to confirm your identity.

Go to activate your UCInetID: http://activate.ucl.edu/

Questions or concerns?
Please report any problems via your Admissions portal.

B. GETTING TO THE CAMPUS

If you are looking to visit the campus, the UCI Visitor Center is located at the Student Center, #113 on the campus map. If you would like to visit the Edge program staff at the UCI Summer Session Student Life & Leadership Office, search for #231 on the campus map.

B. ADAPTING TO COLLEGE LIFE

We are confident that your time at UCI will be challenging and rewarding. UCI has world-class faculty who are experts in a huge variety of fields. We hope that you will discover what questions engage them, what complex research issues fascinate them, what stimulates their creative energies, and in what ways their research contributes to the creation of new knowledge. With the faculty as your guide, you will have an opportunity to explore new disciplines, be exposed to new ideas, develop your creativity, hone your critical skills, and develop a keener sense of the world around you. Your involvement here at UCI will lay the foundation for life-long learning.

While at UCI, we encourage you to explore the wide range of academic programs and services available to you. These include campus-wide academic assistance programs, peer academic advising, honors programs, undergraduate research opportunities, academic advising for undergraduate/undeclared students, freshman seminars, international study abroad programs, and opportunities to intern and study!

C. ACADEMIC EXPECTATIONS AT UCI

On the first day of class, professors will reference their course syllabus, which is like a contract between the student and the faculty member. It will usually spell out dates for examinations, projects, papers and lab reports. The syllabus will also describe the attendance policy in that class. Class attendance is an extremely important part of the grading in most classes. It is possible to fail if a student misses too many classes.

Students who are ill may need to contact the professor before the class. This is the student’s responsibility. If a student regularly misses class, the professor could interpret the absence as the student not caring about their grades. Class absences can often result in lower grades than might normally be assigned.

Keep in mind that Summer Session courses span just 6 weeks. This short amount of time to learn makes it difficult to miss classes. Show up on time and try to attend all classes. You are responsible for work missed because of absences.

As with most things in life, the quality of your educational experience at UCI depends largely on your effort and initiative.

Students should also pay attention to the late assignment policy. If a student turns in an assignment after the deadline, the professor is not obliged to give that work a grade. The student could be given an “F” for that assignment. One good way to show respect for your professor is to be an active participant in class. Do not be afraid to ask questions!
Professors expect students to attend “office hours” -- time set aside by faculty members for students to discuss course materials, leniency with grades, and to build a relationship with them. Look at your course syllabi and find out when your professors have their office hours and make an effort to go see them.

Here’s why you should:
- To have a deeper understanding of the course material.
- To establish a relationship with your professors.
- If you are not doing well in class, to learn how you can improve.
- To learn what you are doing wrong, as well as what you are doing right.
- To get professional advice.
- To learn about research opportunities.

If you are not doing well in class and you choose to not see your professor to discuss the problem, the professor is likely to assume that you are not interested in the class. In other words, most professors will have a negative or at least indifferent evaluation of a student who never raises a question or challenges them in class, or who does not visit them outside class to discuss academic difficulties he or she is experiencing.

Even if you do not have a problem or a concern, but simply would like to introduce yourself to your professor and say “hello,” visiting them during their office hours is the perfect time to start building a relationship with them. Office hours are the most convenient way to interact with professors and their teaching assistants (TAs).

The designated times are opportunities for students to discuss issues, receive extra help, and a convenient way to get to know the professor and TAs at a professional level. Any time you feel unsure of what is expected of you in a class, or of some aspect of the material being presented, ask the professor and some of your fellow students about it.

Again, if you do not ask, it will be assumed that you understand everything or that you are not interested.

i. Responsibility
   College is a choice and is expensive. You will need to manage your own time, decide whether to participate in co-curricular activities, and set your own priorities. You might even have to make decisions that you never made before. Schedules often tend to look lighter than they really are, even with several free hours between classes.

   You are expected to take responsibility for what you do and do not do, as well as for the consequences of your decisions.

ii. ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

   Students enrolling in the University are expected to assume an obligation to conduct themselves in a manner compatible with the University's function as an educational institution. A handbook is available which sets forth standards of conduct expected of UCI students. "University of California Policies Applying to Campus Activities, Organizations, and Students" lists rules concerning conduct and related matters, as established by the policies of the Regents and the President of the University and also incorporates campus regulations. These policies are available at https://aisc.uci.edu/students/academic-integrity/index.php
iii. Success

Classes may be larger (or smaller) than you are used to. You will need to study at least 2 to 3 hours outside of class for every one hour spend in class. Make sure to review class notes and text material regularly. You might be assigned substantial amounts of reading and writing which may not be directly addressed in class. Because of that, make sure to review your course syllabi.

It is up to you to read and understand all course related materials.

iv. Instructors & Professors

Instructors may not always check your homework or remind you of an assignment that needs to be completed. But should you need their assistance, contact them via email, and attend their scheduled office hours. They have been trained as experts in their particular field and may not follow the textbook. Often they may lecture continuously, expecting you to identify the important points. Writing on the board adds to the lecture, but does not summarize it. Good notes are a must. Instructors expect you to read, save, and consult the course syllabus (outline) which spells out exactly what is expected of you, when it is due, and how you will be graded. Instructors may not take roll, but are likely to know whether or not you attend class.

College is a learning environment in which you take responsibility for thinking through and applying what you have learned.

v. Studying at a University

- Active classroom participation is expected.

D. COURSE CHANGES AND REFUNDS

Please be aware that these are the campus policies associated with course changes and refunds. Financial aid recipients should be aware that any changes in enrollment, including dropping units or changing sessions may result in the student being billed for funds received.

- Summer Bridge Scholarship recipients should contact Financial Aid if they are considering dropping a course as the Summer Bridge Scholarship may be negatively impacted by any changes in course enrollments.

- International students should contact the UCI International Center if they are considering dropping a course as they must remain enrolled as a full-time student (minimum 6 units in Summer Session) to satisfy the requirements of their F-1 student visa.

i. How to Drop a Course

   All course changes including Drops, Adds, or Grade Option changes must be done by paper form and submitted to Summer Session A (bldg. 231 on the campus map). Do not submit your form to the "Student Services" windows. Ensure that the staff is aware that you are in one of our programs.

E. UNIVERSITY CREDIT (E.G. GRADE OPTIONS, FINAL GRADES)

At UCI, courses are assigned a unit value determined by the number of hours of work required of the student, rather than the number of class meetings. Normally, two hours of preparation are required for one hour of lecture.

If you are not sure if your completed contract was received, you may contact the Housing Accounts Receivable at (949) 824-6811. When calling, be sure to let the staff know you are calling regarding Accounts Receivable for Summer Edge.

NOTE: Per Arroyo Vista’s contract: Residency under [their] agreement is limited to participants under the age of 25. Residency for participants 25 years of age or older is subject to administrative review and approval by UCI Student Housing. You may search for other housing options through the UCI Housing Office.

By choosing to live on campus during the program, you will be grouped with other students in your program, and will be able to best take advantage of the many student life opportunities organized exclusively for Edge students. You will also have the unique opportunity to learn from the Resident Advisors (UCI students responsible for supervising and assisting residential students), some of whom are last year’s Edge participants, who will be living with you in the dorms and guiding you as you begin your life at UCI.

Each “House” in Arroyo Vista contains a main living room with a TV, a full-sized kitchen, and laundry facilities. A Resident Advisor (RA) is assigned to every two halls. The RA is responsible for overseeing the two halls and is available to assist and guide residents in their transition to university life.

The Arroyo Vista Community Center houses the administrative offices for the community as well as a recreation room, computer lab (with free internet access), meeting room, and poster-making station (for resident use only). There is a large screen cable TV, change machine, along with foosball, pool, and ping-pong tables. Residents can also check out a variety of board games and sports equipment. In addition to these features, the Arroyo Vista community has two outdoor basketball courts (one full length and one-half court), and the Anteater Recreation Center (ARC) is right next door!

Your bed space in a double occupancy room is reserved for you as long as space remains available and your summer contract and payment are submitted by the deadline. Please note that this is a different contract than the one you may have submitted for fall housing.

You will receive your mailing address and roommate’s name (if you have a double-occupancy contract) on move-in day.

MOVE-IN DATES: Housing move-in will take place during your Program Check-in:

E. LIVING WITH A ROOMMATE

All summer housing is double occupancy. This may be your first time sharing your living space with someone else. While having a roommate inevitably has its challenges, it can also be a great part of the college life experience. Here are some tips to make sure you and your roommate keep things pleasant and supportive throughout the program.

1. Be clear from the beginning. Are you a neat person? Do you need time to yourself before talking to anyone after you wake up? Let your roommate know as soon as you can about your quirks and preferences. It’s not fair to expect him/her to pick up on them right away, and communicating what you need is one of the best ways to eliminate problems before they arise.

2. Address things when they’re little. Is your roommate always forgetting his/her stuff and taking yours? Addressing things that irritate you can help your roommate be aware of something he/she may not otherwise know. Addressing little things is much easier than addressing them after they’ve become big.

3. Respect your roommate’s belongings. This may seem simple, but it’s probably one of the biggest reasons why roommates experience conflict. Do not borrow, use, or take anything without getting permission first.

4. Be cognizant of who you bring into your room and how often. You may love having your study group in your room but your roommate may not. Be mindful of how often you bring people over. If your roommate studies best quietly, and you study best in a group, alternate who uses the library and who uses the room.

5. Lock the door and windows. This may seem like it has nothing to do with roommate relationships, but how would you feel if your roommate’s iPhone got stolen during the ten seconds it took you to run down the hall? Locking your door and windows is a critical part of safety on campus.
6. Be friendly, without expecting to be best friends. It may happen, but expecting it sets both of you up for trouble. You should be friendly with your roommate but also make sure you have your own social circles.

7. Be open to new things. Your roommate may be from someplace you've never heard of or may have a religion or lifestyle that is completely different from your own. Be open to new ideas and experiences, especially as it relates to what your roommate brings into your life.

8. Be open to change. You should expect to learn, grow, and change during the program, and the same applies to your roommate. Realize things will change for both of you. Be comfortable addressing things that unexpectedly come up, setting new rules, and being flexible to your changing environment.

9. Follow the Golden Rule. Treat your roommate like you'd like to be treated.

10. Ask for help. If you feel you cannot (or would rather not) handle a situation with your roommate, or you just need advice on "how-to", the Resident Assistants are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to assist you and to ensure that the program runs smoothly.

VII. FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

A. I-20 DOCUMENTATION AND STUDENT Visa

International students on F-1 and J-1 visas are required to report to the International Center upon arrival on the campus.

- International Students will receive I-20 documentation, which is necessary to apply for the F-1 student visa, processed by the UCI International Center. Students are responsible for following the instructions given in their UCI Admissions correspondence and completing the necessary steps to obtain visa and immigration documents, including, but not limited to, submitting the online Statement of Intent to Register (SIR) to UCI Admissions, and their Confidential Financial Statement (CFS) to the UCI International Center. As long as you have submitted all required documents as listed in your MyAdmissions Profile, the Office of Admissions will request an I-20 document on your behalf with a start date that will allow you to attend an Edge Program.

- International students are required to check-in and attend a mandatory immigration orientation to complete the SEVIS reporting requirement with the International Center. This orientation will take place during the first week of the program. Reference your e-mail correspondence for date, time, and other details. Make copies of the following listed documents AFTER you arrive in the U.S. (your documents should have been stamped by U.S. officials when you entered the U.S.):

  a. Passport, Biographical Page (page with your information and picture)
  b. Visa page (this was issued by the U.S. Embassy)
  c. CBP Admissions stamp in your passport
  d. I-20 document with signatures

The International Center promotes and facilitates international education and exchange by providing services and information to the UCI international population, affiliated offices, and the general campus community. Services include immigration advising and workshops for international students and scholars, employment processing for all non-immigrant employees, and immigration advising and consulting for campus departments.

All international students must be aware of their responsibility of maintaining their non-immigrant visa status. Additionally, these students must maintain updated records with the International Center for the entire time of their stay at UCI to be in compliance with immigration regulations.

Go to the International Center: http://www.ic.uci.edu/ | [949) 824-7249 | internationalcenter@uci.edu

The International Center is located on the third floor of the Student Center G302, (building 113 on the campus map).

B. PROGRAM HOUSING

(In addition to the information below, also read the section in this guide, “FOR RESIDENTIAL STUDENTS”.)

Living on campus during the program is a highly recommended aspect of the program.

- Your housing contract must be submitted with payment directly to Housing Accounts Receivable. View the information below for submission details.
- Summer Session is unable to accept your housing contract or payment.
Summer housing contracts are completely separate from any arrangements you may make for Fall freshman housing.

If you no longer plan to utilize Edge Program Housing, it is important that you let us know immediately so we can update our records accordingly and offer your space to another interested student.

International Edge Program housing is available for the dates August 4 – September 13, 2018 (Freshman Edge); and August 5 – September 13, 2018 (Transfer Edge: Session II), and is located in the on-campus undergraduate community of Arroyo Vista. Housing contracts and payment are due no later than May 25, 2018 for Session I and June 29, 2018 for Session II. To secure your space in Program Housing, review the text in your Welcome E-mail correspondence for directions.

NOTE: Per Arroyo Vista’s contract: Residency under [their] agreement is limited to participants under the age of 25. Residency for participants 25 years of age or older is subject to administrative review and approval by UCI Student Housing. You may search for other housing options through the UCI Housing Office.

International Freshman Edge students who will be living in an on-campus housing community in the fall (Mesa Court, Middle Earth, Arroyo Vista, Campus Village, Vista del Campo Norte, Camino del Sol) may be eligible for a Pre-Fall Contract Addendum – more information will become available in August. Please contact our office via email (summer-freshman@uci.edu) to inquire for more information.

C. FLIGHTS AND AIRPORT PICK-UP

Once you have secured your F-1 student visa, we suggest you start looking for flights to the U.S. You should fly into Los Angeles International Airport (LAX) or John Wayne Airport, Orange County (SNA). It is important to arrive on time and stay for the duration of the program: August 4 – September 13, 2018. If you paid for airport pick-up service on your International Edge Program enrollment form, it is recommended that you choose a flight that lands early in the morning on Saturday, August 4.

Unless you register and pay for an airport pick-up on Saturday, August 4, 2018, you are responsible for making your own transportation arrangements to Irvine, CA and accommodation arrangements. Making your own travel arrangements will allow you to travel with your family and friends to enjoy more sights of California before and/or after the program dates per the conditions of your visa. Please refer to the Early and Late Arrival Information (check back in July for updated information).

To receive an airport pick-up, payment must be made in advance, and students must submit an Airport Arrival Form, so our team can make airport pick-up arrangements. Be sure your flight arrival coincides with the airport pick-up date and time frame: Saturday, August 4 between 12:00pm-6:00pm. Airport pick-up will not be available outside of this time frame. Reference your Welcome E-mail correspondence to secure the Airport Arrival Form.

D. MANDATORY IMMIGRATION ORIENTATION: SEVIS REPORTING

International students are required to check-in and attend a mandatory immigration orientation to complete the SEVIS reporting requirement with the International Center. This orientation will take place during the first week of the program. Reference your e-mail correspondence for date, time, and other details. Make copies of the following documents. Be sure to make copies of the following listed documents AFTER you arrive in the U.S.; your documents should have been stamped by U.S. officials when you entered the U.S.:
a. Passport, Biographical Page (page with your information and picture)
b. Visa Stamp (this was issued by the U.S. Consulate)
c. I-94 card; front and back side (white card stamped when you entered the U.S., usually stapled in your passport)
d. I-20 document

E. CELL PHONES

Below is information and a list of resources to assist you with telephone or cell phone service while you are in the U.S. We do not specifically recommend any services or plans, but we provide this list as a resource. It is your responsibility to research these resources and determine suitability for your needs.

Calling Cards
A good option for keeping in touch with family and friends just after arrival is with a pre-paid international phone card. A pre-paid phone card can be purchased at many different locations including grocery stores, drug stores, or on-line. The nearest location to purchase a calling card is Albertson’s grocery store in the Campus Plaza shopping center near Arroyo Vista Housing. Make sure you compare rates before you buy one of these cards. You may want to check if there is a connection fee. This site offers phone cards with no hidden charges: www.internationalstudent.com/phonecards/

Cell (Mobile, Wireless) Phone Service
Cell phones in the U.S. work on different frequencies than in most other parts of the world; therefore, even if you have a cell phone in your home country, it may not work here.

Tri-Band Phones & SIM Cards
If you have a tri-band cell phone (a GSM phone that supports three of the four major GSM frequency bands, which work in most parts of the world) you will need to buy a new SIM card from a U.S. cellular company. A SIM card is a removable card that stores a user’s service information as well as personal contacts. It allows users to change phones by simply removing the SIM card from the cell phone and replacing it with another.

Contract Plans and Prepaid (To-Go) Plans
All phone companies in the U.S. offer Contract Plans – this means, you have to sign a contract with the company in which you state that you will use their service for a predetermined length of time (usually two years), and pay a monthly fee plus the charges for the services according to your rate-plan. However, companies may require that you have at least a year of credit history on your credit card, which must be obtained in the U.S., and a Social Security number. Without one of these, you may be required to a deposit, from $300-$600 (depending on the company), which will be returned to you upon completion of the contract. A better option may be to apply for a Prepaid Plan, which is offered by most major companies and is also available through electronic retail stores (Best Buy, Radio Shack). A Prepaid Plan means you have to pay a fee (according to your rate-plan) a month in advance. You can terminate the service any time you like. However, you still need at least a debit/ATM card to be able to use this service. The company charges your card automatically, on the same date every month, unless you call to terminate your service. No subscription fee is required; you only pay the sum of your rate-plan.
Cell Phones
If you want to buy a new cell phone, buying one along with a service plan directly from the company whose service you will use can get you a huge discount. Some phones are offered only together with the service, making them significantly cheaper than their original price. Below is a list of the major cell phone companies. Research the companies through their websites or in person before you make a decision.

- Sprint http://www.sprint.com - No prepaid plans
- T-Mobile http://www.t-mobile.com
- Verizon Wireless http://www.verizonwireless.com
  Prepaid Plan Information: https://www.verizonwireless.com/prepaid/

Other Phone Resources:

Consumer Reports
A reputable magazine and online resource regarding expert testing of products, including phone services, in the United States. http://www.consumerreports.org

10-10 Phone Number
You do not need to sign up for a plan, and the charge will be included in your regular phone bill. http://www.1010phonerates.com.

SKYPE
With the free download from www.skype.com, you can talk to family or friends who are also online with no charge using your computer. You will need to install SKYPE, and set up a microphone and headset/speakers. You can also call from your computer to regular phones (including international calls) with reasonable fees. Services include free online chat and free video calls (webcam required).

Instant Messenger Applications

F. MONEY AND BANKING
In the U.S. you can charge Traveler’s Checks, use credit cards (Visa and MasterCard are the most common) or use an ATM (Automatic Teller Machine) card to withdraw money from your bank account in your home country.

The following banks have Automatic Teller Machines (ATMs) at the UCI Student Center: Bank of America, Chase, Orange County Teacher’s Federal Credit Union (OCTFCU)* and Wells Fargo*. Requirements for opening an account will vary from bank to bank. Please contact the bank or visit the bank website to find its specific requirements for opening an account. The following are commonly required:

- U.S. address
- Foreign address
- U.S. phone number
- Two forms of identification
  - Government issued photo ID (passport, driver's license or state ID card)
  - UCI ID or I-20 (foreign driver’s licenses and foreign ID cards not accepted)
G. CULTURAL ADAPTATION

Living in a new culture can be exhilarating, personally rewarding, and intellectually stimulating. It can also be frustrating. It is one thing to visit a country, and it is quite another to live there and function according to a different, and sometimes mysterious, set of norms. Participation in Summer Session not only provides a rare opportunity to know another society from within, but also involves certain responsibilities. The most obvious one is to adapt one's behavior to the customs and expectations of the U.S. This is not to deny one's own culture, but to respect that of others. Another, even more subtle responsibility is to be aware of similarities and differences, to learn rather than to judge. This can be the most rewarding experience in your education.

i. Culture Shock

People usually experience many emotions while adapting to a foreign culture, changing from excitement and interest in the new culture to depression and fear of the unknown. The difficulties that you experience as you integrate into a new society can be a result of what is termed "culture shock." Most experts agree that culture shock, although often delayed, is inevitable in one form or another. However, the benefit of adjusting to a foreign culture and living through difficult times of change can be a satisfying experience, though accompanied by occasional discomfort and effort.

Attitudes come in a wide variety of species, ranging from broad and pervasive cultural attitudes to the most specific and personal attitudes. Due to the scope of this subject, it is probably the most difficult to discuss. However, because the attitudes you take with you to the U.S. and those you form once here will have such a great effect upon your perception of the people and ways of American culture, it is very important for you to be aware of the role attitudes play in your overseas experience.

Normally, attitudes exist on a more or less subconscious level. When faced with a new situation, most people will recognize their reaction to it, but not necessarily the underlying attitude responsible for that particular reaction.

When we deal with people who share the same basic cultural attitudes as ourselves, the system works well: the differences in attitude between two Americans, broadly speaking, are far more likely to be of the specific and personal kind than of the cultural kind. When we interact with people of different nationalities, problems can arise. Communications break down because their cultural attitudes are fundamentally different than ours, and the results are often feelings of confusion and hostility on both sides. This situation is called “culture shock.” This can be a misleading term, however, so let’s explore it a little further.

An underlying cause of negative reactions to another culture is the tendency to judge something that is different as inferior. It is important to be open toward the culture into which you are going, to try to discard stereotypes, and to read as much as you can about the culture before your departure. If you educate yourself on the many aspects of the country in which you will be living, you will better understand and appreciate your new surroundings. Before departing from your home country, learn about U.S. history, natural resources, social customs, religions, art, and political structures. Find out the culture’s set of manners, expected behavior, and unspoken rules. Read up on the U.S. and its current national issues. Learning about current affairs will help you to get a sense of how people evaluate events from different perspectives. Talk to other students who have been to the U.S. or specifically California and Orange County (or even UCI!) to gain an understanding or perspective you might not have heard before.

Even with this preparation, it is inevitable that you will experience some symptoms of culture shock. You may be unaware that the frustrations and emotions you are experiencing are related to culture shock; in retrospect, this becomes apparent. If you understand the phenomenon and its possible causes, you can decrease its effects. Try to acquaint yourself with the signs of culture shock. For more information about cultural differences and culture shock, come visit us in the Summer Session Office and our staff will assist you.

ii. Phases of Cultural Adjustment
Recent studies have shown that there are distinct phases of culture shock which virtually everyone who lives abroad goes through. Each phase has a number of characteristic features, one of which is usually predominant. These stages include:

1. Preliminary stage: This phase includes awareness of the host culture, preparation for the journey, farewell activities.

2. Initial euphoria: The initial euphoria phase begins with the arrival in the new country and ends when this excitement wears off.

3. Irritability: During the irritability phase you will be acclimating to your setting. This will produce frustration because of the difficulty in coping with the elementary aspects of everyday life when things still appear so foreign to you. Your focus will likely turn to the differences between the host culture and your home, and these differences can be troubling.

Sometimes insignificant difficulties can seem like major problems. One typical reaction against culture shock is to associate mainly with other students from your same country, but remember, you are going abroad to get to know the host country, its people, culture, and language. If you avoid contact with nationals of the host country, you cheat yourself and lengthen the process of adaptation.

4. Gradual adjustment: As you become more used to the new culture, you will slip into the gradual adjustment stage. You may not even be aware that this is happening. You will begin to orient yourself and be able to interpret cultural clues. The culture will become familiar to you.

5. Adaptation and biculturalism: Eventually you will develop the ability to function in the new culture. Your sense of “foreignness” diminishes significantly. Not only will you be more comfortable with the host culture, but you may also feel a part of it. Once abroad, you can take some steps to minimize emotional and physical ups and downs. Try to establish routines that incorporate both the difficult and enjoyable tasks of the day or week. Treat yourself to an occasional indulgence such as a magazine or newspaper (the UCI book store might have them from your country!), a favorite meal or beverage, or a long talk with other international students experiencing the same challenges. Keep yourself healthy through regular exercise and eating habits. Accept invitations to activities that will allow you to see areas of the host culture outside the university and meet new people. Above all, try to maintain your sense of humor.

6. Re-entry phase: The re-entry phase occurs when you return to your homeland. For some, this can be the most painful phase of all. You will be excited about sharing your experiences, and you will realize that you have changed, although you may not be able to explain how. One set of values has long been instilled in you, another you have acquired in the host country. Both may seem equally valid.

iii. Tips to Ease Cultural Adjustment
Here are some general tips for traveling and interacting with Americans and other cultures, which, if kept in mind, may help ease cultural adjustment:

• Explore: Get familiar with your environment. Become familiar with the UCI campus and neighborhood and speak with other students, staff, and faculty.

• Learn about cultural norms: Do people in Southern California greet people differently than in other parts of the U.S.? Ask other students about how people interact in professional settings like offices, classrooms, stores and on the street.

• Be slow to judge. Ask “why” people do what they do to gain an understanding and viewpoint that you might not already have known.

• Go to events where you can meet new people. UCI has numerous speakers, workshops, seminars, sporting events, student groups and organizations that can keep you active, but also help you gain a much broader perspective of American culture. The Summer Session Office also encourages you to be active by volunteering. Come visit us to learn how.

• Do not expect to find things as you have them at home.

• Read your Welcome Guide carefully. Students who come prepared will get the most out of the experience.

• Realize that other people may have thought patterns and concepts of time which are very different than yours - not inferior or better, just different.

• Read local newspapers, magazines and books about American culture and etiquette.

• Be open to start conversations with other students, faculty, staff and even people that you meet in the community and during your travels in California. However, just as in any large city around the world, use appropriate discretion and wise judgment when starting a conversation with a stranger. Making a new friend can be a very rewarding experience and starts with a simple “hello”.

iv. Living Among Americans
Who is an American? Early Americans from Europe came to the New World seeking social, economic and religious freedom. To this day, new Americans continue to enter the U.S. from every corner of the globe. This history has probably shaped many of the values Americans hold today. Below are some values that many Americans have. However, please keep in mind that Americans are an extremely diverse population, so do not assume that all Americans are alike. Diversity can be defined by ethnicity, national origin, gender, religion, socio-economic status and U.S. regional differences.

Individualism
As you may experience in the classroom, Americans value individualism and the right to free expression is guaranteed in the Constitution. From an early age, Americans are encouraged to shape their own opinions. Students are expected to participate in classroom discussions and share their views.

Equality
From the very beginning, equality has been an American value as drafted in the US Declaration of Independence, “...all men are created equal...with certain unalienable Rights... Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness.” Many people see the United States as the land of opportunity. Americans admire people who work hard and achieve their dreams.

Time
You may have heard the saying, “Time is money.” Time, highly valued by Americans, is used as the basis for organizing all the different activities that Americans are involved in, whether it is studying, playing on a sports team, volunteering or spending time with family and friends. Being “on time” is a sign of respect because it shows that you are considerate of people’s time. If people are “running late” it is common courtesy to let the other person know that you will be arriving late.

Politeness
Americans seem to be very open and friendly. However, do not be surprised when Americans greet you with, “Hi. How are you?” and quickly walk away. This is merely a way to be polite, which Americans highly value. Any strong relationship takes time to develop, so do not get discouraged and misinterpret politeness for insincerity.

Communication
American values can be seen in the way people communicate. Usually when Americans communicate, they are polite by speaking one at a time. Direct eye contact shows their interest and attentiveness, and international students will notice an assertive and direct style.

v. Studying at an American University
The U.S. cultural values listed in the previous section shape the academic environment in the following ways (please keep in mind that these are generalizations):

- Active classroom participation is expected.
- Time pressures are strong - often there are many small assignments due each week - and time management is a crucial skill to develop.
- Critical thinking is emphasized and highly regarded.
- Independent thinking is highly valued.
- Presenting ideas concisely in class is expected.
- Assignments (reading, writing, homework, tests) can seem numerous.
- Competition is a common mind-set.
- Achievement and hard work are highly valued; the finished product is most important.
- Students are responsible for themselves.
- Equality. All students should be treated equally.
Direct and straightforward communication is expected.
Friendship is usually based on doing things in common—sports, studying, etc.
Combining theory and practice—the practical application of ideas—is emphasized.
Problem-solving orientation—"If it’s broken, we ought to be able to fix it!"
The scientific method and the use of logical proof are emphasized academically.

B. ZotWheels

What is ZotWheels?
ZotWheels is an automated self-service bike share program offered to all UC Irvine affiliates. Bike sharing allows faculty, students, and staff an alternative to driving when making short-distance trips nearby campus. It is an affordable, environmentally sustainable, and increasingly accessible form of transportation.

How It Works

Locations
ZotWheels stations will be located at four key locations across campus: Langson Library, Ayala Science Library, Physical Sciences, and the Student Center. Since bikes may not be available at a particular bike station at all times, it is recommended that you first check the interactive map for current availability.

Emergency Blue Phones are available throughout the campus for a direct emergency line to the UCI Police Department. These phones, once activated, can monitor callers from a long range, and also automatically let the police dispatcher know the location from which you are calling.

Do you have a night class? The CSO (Community Service Officers) Safety Escort program is a free service to members of the community. The objective of the program is to provide a safe alternative to walking alone at night. CSO's are equipped with radios that allow them to keep in constant contact with the Police. When requesting an escort, please provide the dispatcher with the following information:

- Your name
- Your location
SUMMER SESSION SPECIAL PROGRAMS

- A phone # where you can be reached
- Your destination

A uniformed CSO will then meet you and escort you to your destination. The Safety Escort Program is not a taxi service, it is meant to provide a safe alternative to walking alone at night.

P. EMERGENCY SITUATIONS

If you encounter an emergency where an individual needs immediate medical attention, call the police at 911. The police will quickly alert paramedics. If there is a non-life-threatening emergency that does not require the police or paramedics, you can call the Summer Session Office from 8:00AM to 5:00PM Monday through Friday at (949) 824-7649.

i. DURING A FIRE
Upon discovery of a fire, alert others, leave the area, and close all doors behind you. Please pull the nearest fire alarm box and dial 911 to report the fire. The procedures for evacuating from a classroom or dorm are similar and as follows:

- Close the door and exit the building immediately through the nearest and safest path.
- Once you are out of the building, go to the designated assembly area.
- Re-enter the building only after receiving instructions to do so from fire officials or from UCI authorities.

ii. DURING AN EARTHQUAKE
In an attempt to ensure safety of our Summer Session students in case of an earthquake or other natural disaster, UCI (including Campus Housing) has developed an emergency preparedness plan. In an emergency such as an earthquake, gas leak, or natural disaster, follow the procedures listed below. As Summer Session students live both on and off campus, we encourage all students to gather their own personal supplies and make their own plans in case of an earthquake. Summer Session staff will be happy to assist you with designing an adequate supply of materials for your apartment or room, as well as offer ideas for how you can be best prepared. If you are living on campus, check with your RA/HA for specific instructions and guidance for emergency preparedness. Detailed instructions about UCI Emergency Procedures for a variety of situations are found in every UCI office and classroom.

Go to view Emergency Procedures for the campus:
http://police.uci.edu/em/procedures/
Of course, it is best to be familiar with them before anything happens!

Listen to instructions from campus staff or if you are in the dorm your RA/HA will assist you.
• If you are indoors, get under a table or desk, or against an inside corner of the room. Get away from glass or heavy objects that may fall on you.

• Do not run outside during the earthquake. The risk of being injured by falling bricks or breaking glass is much higher when you are outside.

• If you are outdoors, try to remain in an open area away from tall trees, building or electrical lines.

• Evacuate after the shaking has stopped--DO NOT EVACUATE AUTOMATICALLY. Evacuate the building only if told to do so by emergency responders, or if you feel it is unsafe to remain inside. Lock your door, wear shoes for protection and take your keys and emergency supplies.

• Do not light a match or turn on a light because of possible gas leaks or electrical shortages.

• If evacuated, proceed to the designated evacuation assembly area and follow instructions from the UCI campus authorities. Emergency evacuation procedures and the evacuation assembly areas are posted prominently in each hall and public facility on the UCI campus, including the dorms. Please become familiar with the instructions in advance of an emergency or drill.

O. THE STUDY ABROAD CENTER

The mission of the Study Abroad Center is to foster a culture at UCI in which study abroad is expected and achievable for all students. SAC assists students in participating in programs abroad that allow them to progress toward their UCI degree while developing the academic, personal, and professional skills necessary to be well-informed, engaged members of the global society.

While you’re at UCI, be sure to attend a Study Abroad workshop to learn more about opportunities for you to study abroad. It is not too early to begin planning!

Dear Parents and Guardians,

As your student embarks on a journey into the next phase of life, we want to assure you that your student's success and well-being are of prime importance to us at UCI. Summer Session Edge Programs provide a unique opportunity for students to explore UCI with other, matriculated college students, during the summer. While taking rigorous, engaging undergraduate classes, students enjoy studying at a top ranked research university in the comfort of a small cohort program. UCI’s Edge Programs give students the experience of living and studying with peers from around the world, whether their goal is to get a taste of university life, strengthen their resumes or simply to learn.

The credits earned are recorded on an official UCI transcript. Edge Programs are not just about earning college credit; it’s about preparing students for the rigors of collegiate life. We offer a number of activities that will help your student navigate the transition to a major research university. Also, by taking courses with college students, your student will be able to get a sense of what to expect at UCI.

This program also provides opportunities for your student to have a great time and make new friends. Students are invited to participate in social events, study groups, field trips and many other activities. This combination of academics and fun ensures a well-rounded experience that prepares your student for life.

Edge Program workshops and social activities give students a preview of the opportunities and experiences they will encounter at UCI. These experiences will be guided by Summer Session mentors, who are UCI undergraduate students and former participants in Edge Programs. These mentors will plan social events, serve as a resource, and support the students. Each mentor has completed formal leadership development training to refine their leadership skills. They are very positive role models for your student.

Collegiate life and study workshops are available to Edge Program students to support their academics during their studies at UCI. The Summer Session mentors will also provide perspective as to what UCI coursework entails. Students are also encouraged to spend time speaking with class instructors.

Your student should read this welcome guide, which outlines student responsibilities in such areas as conduct, attendance, and academic integrity.

UCI cannot release information relating to the student’s enrollment to entities outside of UCI, including family members or guardians. This is in accordance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), to provide students with certain protections concerning the confidentiality of their educational records.

After completing a Summer Session Edge Program, your student will have matured both as a student and as a person. We look forward to seeing your student on campus this summer!
